DETAILED ACTION

Applicants have amended the claims.

Claims pending are 19, 23, 24, 26, 27, 29, 33-36 and 38.

The claims have been amended to the elected group.

Response to the arguments.

With regards the 35 USC 112 , the applicants have amended the claims to overcome most of the rejections made.

The examiner had missed some terms such as “derivatives thereof” and “solvates and hydrates” and so has a new rejection.

The rejection under 35 USC 102 with a 102 (e) date over WO 2002/096221 has been withdrawn as the priority document has the same date.

The rejection under 35 USC 103 under 102(e) date over the same document WO 2002/096221 and US pub 20050096343 now allowed, 102(e) dates still stands.

Applicants are arguing that the WO document provisional application , which has a date prior to that of the current application does not disclose the R4 group . This may be so however it does disclose compound 67 page 49, compound 65 page 48. It further teaches on page 15 that it includes prodrugs, which are the compounds with the protective groups especially on the OH . The teaching of the double bond and the epoxy group at that position along with the prodrugs, teaches that it can have an R4 substituent at that position

Art Unit: 1625

See page 15, given below.

The present invention also relates to pro-drugs which are composed of a compound of Formula (I) and at least one pharmacologically acceptable protective group which will be cleaved off under physiological conditions, such as an alkoxy-, aralkyloxy-, acyl-, acyloxymethyl group (e.g. pivaloyloxymethyl), an 2-alkyl-, 2-aryl- or 2-aralkyl-oxycarbonyl-2-alkylidene ethyl group or anacyloxy group as defined herein, e.g. ethoxy, benzyloxy, acetyl or acetyloxy or especially for a hydroxy group (ROH) a sulfate, a phosphate (ROPO₃ or ROCH₂OPO₃) or an ester of an amino acid.

Thus with a double bond or an epoxy group, one could envision the prodrugs groups at that position, too, to make them more water soluble.

The ODP rejections have also not been withdrawn as applicants have not argued them convincingly, deferring the argument till the claims are allowable.

New rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 19, 24, 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for some compounds and their salts, does not reasonably provide enablement for solvates and hydrates. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

Art Unit: 1625

In re Wands, 858 F.2d 731, 737, 8 USPQ2d 1400, 1404 (Fed. Cir. 1988).

Regarding solvates :- The claims are drawn to solvates, yet the numerous examples presented all failed to produce a solvate. These cannot be simply willed into existence. As was stated in Morton International Inc. v. Cardinal Chemical Co., 28 USPQ2d 1190 “The specification purports to teach, with over fifty examples, the preparation of the claimed compounds with the required connectivity. However ... there is no evidence that such compounds exist... the examples of the '881 patent do not produce the postulated compounds... there is ... no evidence that such compounds even exist.” The same circumstance appears to be true here. There is no evidence that solvates of these compounds actually exist; if they did, they would have formed. Hence, applicants must show that solvates can be made, or limit the claims accordingly.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 19, , 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. These claims recite the term “ derivatives thereof”. It is unclear what the scope of these derivatives are. It cannot be envisioned what is encompassed by the this scope. The specifications on page 8 does have some examples of derivatives for the R4 position, but this does not define the full scope.
